HEY, Y'ALL!

K-ZONE

WHERE KIDS RULE!

I gotta say, this is one issue that won't Rita Repulse-a you—even if it has awful puns like this one! Then again, when have we ever made a magazine that wasn't absolutely amazeballs, amirite?

So, anyway, there's a lotta mighty morphin' happening in this ish, which is all about rad reboots and awesome makeovers. The Power Rangers don swanky new suits, Belle and the Beast get the live-action treatment, and King Kong looks bigger and stronger than ever. Hyped!!!

School's finally out for some of you KZ-ers, which means you'll have loads of time for a transformation of your own. Check out the Life Hacks section for ways to beef up your character stats (read: strength, charisma, and so on) IRL. I need a few more stamina points myself, so how about I meet you guys at the pool for some laps? Laps on the pineapple pool float we shot for Starter Pack, that is!

Finally, did you join our fantastic book discussion last month? Newt Scamander would be proud. Don't forget to pick up a copy of Magnus Chase and the Gods of Asgard: The Sword of Summer, 'coz that's what we're gonna read and talk about this month. M'okay? Speak soon!

INTERVIEW OF A ~~WIMPY~~ KID

POP-SICLE

TOP TITLES THAT ARE TOO COOL FOR SCHOOL!

Kid Crew EJ: Just for LOLs, were you a wimpy kid?

Jeff Kinney: I was an average kid but I had really wimpy moments! I played sports, but I wasn't the best at it. Remember when Greg hid in the bathroom from his coach in the second book? I did that, too!

EJ: Would you say that Diary of a Wimpy Kid is based on your childhood experiences?

JK: I get my ideas mostly from my childhood memories, then I try to change them up. I also use my imagination!

EJ: Do you base your characters on people you know in real life?

JK: All the characters are kinda fictionalized versions of my own family members. They don't do exactly what my family did, but they do things that my family might have done.

EJ: Which character do you like writing about the most?

JK: I like writing about Rowley, 'coz there's something that makes him really fun. He doesn't say a lot, but I think he's an interesting character.

Kid Crew EJ Santos got to sit down with Jeff Kinney, author of the Diary of a Wimpy Kid series, for a quick chat!

EJ: How long does it take you to write a Wimpy Kid book?

JK: It took me eight years to finish the first one, and now it takes me about nine months.

EJ: When will you stop writing Wimpy Kid books?

JK: Hopefully never!

EJ: What does your diary look like, if you have one?

JK: Yeah, I did keep one from age 25 to 28, and it was a mix of text and illustrations. It looks almost exactly like Diary of a Wimpy Kid.

EJ: Why is reading rad?

JK: I think that the more you read, the more you get out of life. If you read a lot, you find things that you're interested in and that stimulate your thinking.

We talked to The Vamps dudes, Brad, James, Tristan, and Connor, about random stuff! (Speaking of random things, DYK they can all do cart wheels? Yep!)

KZ: Who do you ship in your band?

Brad: I think Travley (Tristan + Bradley) would be the craziest couple. Actually, I think it's either Travley or Jonnor (James + Connor).

KZ: What do you do when you're having a bad day?

James: I always look at the funny side of things. So, when something goes wrong, I try to joke about it.

Brad: That's right! Have a joke in your back pocket.

KZ: What would you have your fans wear when they go to your concerts?

Brad: All the guys in suits.

James: All the girls in onesies.

Tristan: I like [the color] orange!

Brad: I own a monkey onesie, so if they want to come in a monkey onesie, that would be great!

Tristan: If they have an orange monkey onesie, that would be fine.

KZ: Do you plan on coming back to the Philippines?

James: We're definitely returning to the Philippines for the world tour!

READER'S REC

KID CREW FONZIE GREEKS. ER. GEEKS OUT ABOUT THE PERCY JACKSON SERIES.

K-Zone: Hey, Fonzie! How were you introduced to the Percy Jackson books?

Fonzie: I studied the Greek gods in history class and got super into 'em! Then, I got Percy Jackson's Greek Gods for Christmas and liked it so much because it talked about the gods in a fun way.

KZ: How many Percy Jackson books do you have so far, bro?

F: Around 10 or 12. Greek Gods was the very first PJ book in my collection.

KZ: What's your fave scene in Greek Gods?

F: The part where Hephaestus crafted thrones for everybody and then tricked Hera into sitting on one of the "trap chairs." It was really funny 'coz he kept cracking jokes while she was stuck there.

KZ: If you could have any of the Greek gods' abilities, whose would you choose?

F: Hermes' super speed, because he can get outta any sticky situation! And even as a baby, he was as smart as Einstein! [If I had his powers,] I would sneak around and prank people.

KZ: What would you tell other kids to convince 'em to start reading the PJ books?

F: It's the most entertaining way to learn about Greek mythology!

DO YOU LOVE BOOKS?

Tell us about your fave title or series! Email your name, photo, and book review to kidsrule@kzone.com.ph and you might get featured on this page.

This month, we'll follow the adventures of another cool kid with special powers. Read Magnus Chase and the Gods of Asgard: The Sword of Summer and log in to Facebook on March 24, 8:00PM for a book discussion with the KZ staff!

COOL

1 FANTASTIC BEASTS UPDATE

J.R. ROWLING

An up-to-date edition of Fantastic Beasts and Where to Find Them comes out this month. Proceeds from the book, which features six additional creatures and a new foreword by Newt Scamander, will benefit a couple of children's charities. Fantastic!

2 HK PROJECT

A vgame where you play as a cat? Aw, yeah! "HK Project" is still in its early stages, but the game devs (composed of "two humans and two cats") say it's a third-person solo adventure game set in a dystopian city. Sounds purrr!

3 STEVEN UNIVERSE PINT SIZE HEROES

(Pop! figs x Dorbz) + a shrink gun = Funko's Pint Size Heroes! The Steven Universe gang is the latest to get the Pint Size treatment. Save up and harvest these blind-bag gems!

4 SAIYUKI RELOAD BLAST-ANIME

What better way to kickstart Saiyuki's 20th Anniversary than by releasing an anime adaptation of Saiyuki Reload Blast? The upcoming show features a bunch of returning voice actors from previous Saiyuki anime. Schweet!

LPOOL

5 THE LIGHTNING THIEF MUSICAL

A musical adaptation of Rick Riordan's popular novel gets an Off-Broadway run. We love the idea of Percy Jackson belting out tunes while fighting monsters and looking for Zeus' lightning bolt! LOL!

Build your dream team of Sith Lords or Rebels and Jedi in this fresh mobile game. Choose from an amazeballs character roster and battle other gamers in real-time PvP matches.

7 XBOX INFLATABLE

Xbox Australia unveiled the Xbox Inflatable in time for Australia Day last January 26. The limited edition Xbox One S controller floatie isn't compatible with any Xbox console, but it works great in the pool or ocean!

8 DISNEY SUPERCUTE PLUSHIES

Funko's latest collectibles are kinda like eight-inch-tall stuffed-toy versions of some of your fave Disney Pop! figs. You'll so wanna hug the stuffing outta them, trust!

9 NEKO ATSUME MOVIE TRAILER

The cat-collecting app's live-action trailer is a kawaii overload with all those RL kitties roaming about! The Neko Atsume meow-vie premieres next month in Japan.

10 LUCAS MUSEUM

George Lucas will put up a Museum of Narrative Art in Los Angeles, California. He'll reportedly spend US$1 billion (PHP50 billion) on the museum, which will showcase his personal art collection and tons of Star Wars ephemera.

TRINI KWAN

A.K.A. YELLOW RANGER

Trini pilots the Sabertooth Tiger Dinozord and her waps, the Power Daggers, are effective in both melee and long-range combat.

WHAT WE WANNA SEE:

Trini and Billy having genius-level convos (a la Tony Stark and Bruce Banner) like in the TV. versh would be a #feelsrip.

ZACK TAYLOR

A.K.A. BLACK RANGER

Zack summons the Mastodon Dinozord. For combat, he uses the Power Axe, which can deal huge damage to a foe with a single blow.

WHAT WE WANNA SEE:

Each member of the team falling victim to Zack's pranks is the perfect homage to the original series, bruh.

JASON
LEE
SCOTT

A.K.A. RED RANGER

Jason is the team's leader and the owner of the Tyrannosaurus Dinozord. He also puts the Power Sword, a blade that can be powerful energy waves, to good use.

WHAT WE WANNA SEE:

Two words: Power. Blasts. It's the Rangers' ultimate weapon, so what's a PR movie without it? Make it happen, guys!

IT'S MORF

Meet the newest defenders of Earth—
the Power Rangers.

ZORDON'S

ARSENAL

In addition to their Power Morphers, the Rangers have access to heaps of awesome waps and gadgets to aid 'em in their fight against the forces of evil.

Blade Blaster

This Ranger side wep is used for blasting baddies from a distance.

Shark Cycles

Made outta the fins of a prehistoric shark, these motorbikes are used by the Rangers for quick monster chases and of course, to get to the action swifflly and with steez.

Power Blaster

The Rangers can combine their special weapons to form the Power Blaster and launch their ultimate attack. H-yah! cue explosion

KIMBERLY ANN HART

A.K.A. PINK RANGER

When she's not piloting the Pterodactyl Dinozord, Kim wields the Power Bow, a weapon that can shoot energy arrows.

WHAT WE WANNA SEE

Kim and Tommy (OG Green Ranger) were one of our earliest ships in the geeky 'verse. Let's hope he's a surprise character in this movie versh.

BILLY CRANSTON

A.K.A. BLUE RANGER

The Triceratops Dinozord is Billy's ultimate weapon, but he also has the Power Lance, a spear that can split into two trident-like sai blades.

WHAT WE WANNA SEE

As the resident tech guy, Billy creates gadgets that help the team defeat dem baddies. We can't wait to see what kind of gizmos he comes up with.

IN REEL LIFE

TAKE A WALK AS

Dear Diary,
The good news: I finally found Papa! He's alive—safe, if a little shaken. A dreadful Beast (there's no other way to describe it) held him captive in a castle that's nestled deep in the woods. Thankfully, I convinced the Beast to release my father. The bad news: I offered to take Papa's place in exchange for his freedom, so now I'm the Beast's prisoner. Uh-oh!

Dear Diary,
You won't believe this, but everything in this castle is ALIVE. No, I mean it. The objects all talk—everything from the candelabra to the harpsichord. What sorcery is this?! Wait, I hear the Beast coming. GTG!

Dear Diary,
There's more to this castle than meets the eye, but I can't quite put my finger on it. I'm getting used to the talking objects, though. They're actually pretty good company, and they served me an exceptional meal tonight! After dinner, I hung out with them in the kitchen. Chip cracked jokes and Lumiere's laughter really lit up the room. If they were real people, I think we'd all be very good friends.

Take a peek at Belle's diary and see what she's been up to in the Beast's castle.

S TIME

Dear Diary,
TBH I'm starting to enjoy living in this castle

UGH!

I'm reading in the library right now while the feather dusters sweep under Plumette's watchful eye. It's very peaceful here. I miss Papa dearly, but I don't miss the townsfolk who always teased me about being a bookworm. I definitely don't miss Gaston, who's always wooing me. As if I'll ever be attracted to him!

Dear Diary,
Madame de Garderobe found this incredible ball gown for me to wear. Too extravagant, really, but it made me feel like a princess. I hope the Beast likes it, too.

Dear Diary,
Gaston and the villagers are on their way to the castle... to kill the Beast! I must find a way to save him!

Dear Diary,
The spell is broken at last!

PATRICK'S ROCK

SPONGEBOB SQUAREPANTS

Why It needs a Toon-around: Patrick's a simple starfish, but he's way too cramped up in his rock. He needs more space, yo!

House Toons-formation: We'll expand his pad by adding one more floor (read: another rock on top). Now he'll have more room to roll around and be goofy!

THE MYSTERY SHACK

GRAVITY FALLS

Why It needs a Toon-around: Grunkle Stan could proly make it a little bit homier since he's got two kids living there.

House Toons-formation: Don't worry, we're not turning it into Gideon-land. Juuust a few small fixes, like finally getting that big "S" in "Shack" to stick, replacing the wallpaper, repairing the floors, and adding storage space for all of Mabel's sweaters.

MORDECAI AND RIGBY'S ROOM

THE CAVE

WE BARE BEARS

Why it needs a Toon-around:

Their living quarters are kinda, well, bare. (Heh.)

House Toons-formation: Give the cave some Shire steez and pattern it after Bilbo Baggins' house. Add a mini studio for Pan-pan's vlogging, a comfier couch for Grizz, and an air-conditioned room so poor Ice Bear can finally stop sleeping in the fridge.

ICE KINGDOM

ADVENTURE TIME

Why it needs a Toon-around: Just one look at Ice King's palace and all you'll think about is doom and gloom!

House Toons-formation: Let's build a skating rink inside so the place will look less creepy and more inviting. And don't forget to add an indoor pool for the penguins, a stage for performing magic, and a soft bed (that's not made of ice).

god-like deities

In Goku's most powerful Super Saiyan form yet, his hair turns blue to reflect his total chill mind—a far cry from the insta-rage mode that's typical of a Super Saiyan power-up. Goku's ultimate attack, the Kamehameha, involves channeling his ki into his hands then firing it as an explosive beam.

EXPLOSION
POWER LEVEL

Shiroe

Log Horizon

Most Powerful Attack:
Overskill: Magic Contract
Can Destroy: Reality

Shiroe can manipulate reality inside Elder Tale, an MMORPG where the anime takes place. He can turn in-game NPCs into official player characters and change a player's job class. He's basically like a master hacker in the game!

EXPLOSION
POWER LEVEL

Musashi (Battle Mode)

Arpeggio of Blue Steel

Most Powerful Attack:
Super-Graviton Cannon
Can Destroy: Countless

The super battery Musashi can draw enough firepower from its graviton cannons alone to blow its enemies to smithereens. Musashi creates a mini black hole and focuses its power into a deadly beam before firing it.

K-Zone: Hi, Mestre Fantasma! That's a pretty cool name! What is the meaning behind it?

MESTRE FANTASMA: Before, practitioners would use nicknames to conceal their identities 'coz the sport used to be illegal. We uphold that tradition to this day. I was given the nickname "Fantasma," which means "ghost" in Portuguese.

KZ: Can you tell us about the origins of Capoeira?

MF: It originated in Brazil around 1500 and is a blend of African and Portuguese martial arts. I learned it from Mestre Bimba, who created the modern form of Capoeira.

KZ: What are the physical benefits of Capoeira?

MF: It's a full-body workout that works with music. It's a head-to-toe exercise that improves rhythm and balance, so it's very complete.

KZ: How legit are Eddy and Christie moving in Tekken?

MF: Very legit! A real Capoeira master would be able to do moves like those. Eddy and Christie are very good at it, and their popularity is very much.

AU

MF's daughter Lara has been practicing the martial art for seven years!

Capoeira is a Brazilian martial art that combines elements of dance, acrobatics, and music. It is a non-contact martial art that is practiced in a circle called a roda. The art was created by two African slaves, Zumbi and Pastinha, in the 16th century. It is a unique blend of African and Brazilian culture.

DYK? The Capoeira scene in the Philippines has been around since 2003.

THIS QUICK GIFT GUIDE WILL TELL YA WHICH MIGHTY MORPHIN' POWER RANGERS FUNKO POP! BEST SUITS EACH MEMBER OF YOUR BARKADA.

RED RANGER POP

PERFECT FOR: The Leader

The reliable friend who makes everyone listen, plans most, if not all, of your squadventures (or misadventures), and steps up when things go cray. Without The Leader, the gang is often in chaos.

GREEN RANGER POP

PERFECT FOR: The M.I.A. Friend

There's always that friend who's extra hard to invite and rarely goes out of the house because either his 'rents didn't allow him to, or he's too lazy to socialize. This rare Pokémon sometimes makes a cameo appearance, tho.

BLACK RANGER POP

PERFECT FOR: The Comedian

The comic relief of the group who's often pulling pranks on people. Their fave holiday is obviously April Fools' Day, and they never fail to make ya LOL!

PINK RANGER POP

PERFECT FOR: The Sporty One

The crew's most athletic member who likes to drag you guys to join a marathon or play a basketball game.

YELLOW RANGER POP

PERFECT FOR: The Explorer
The intrepid one who always encourages the gang to go camping, trekking, or whatever adventurous, outdoorsy idea they come up with next.

WHITE RANGER POP

PERFECT FOR: The Wingman/
Wingwoman

They're usually the leader's bestie and acts as second-in-command when planning stuff. They make the wisest decisions, like whether it's better to go to the mall or hold a video chat with the squad instead.

BLUE RANGER POP

PERFECT FOR: The Smarty Pants
They're the brains of the whole operation. The Smarty Pants is always ready to tutor you if you're struggling with a math lesson or needing help with a science project. He also ends up computing how to divvy up the resto bill when you guys eat out.

THE FULL EXPERIENCE

It's not just about the rides, yo! Here are some other musts for your HK Disneyland trip.

MEET AND GREET

Just this once, we give ya permission to go on all-out stalker mode. Hunt down your fave Disney characters and get a photo with them!

SNACK BREAK

We highly recommend getting an Iron Man Waffle, a Lightsaber Churro, and of course, a Mickey ice cream bar. Yum!

LATER, MATER!

Quitting early is a no-no! Make sure you stay for the "Disney Paint the Night" parade at 7PM and the spectacular "Disney in the Stars" fireworks at 8PM.

We talked to Ted Robledo, creative director Imagineer, designing Hong Kong Disneyland's

K-Zoner: Hello, Ted! Who's your favorite Disney character?

TED ROBLEDO: It changes every day 'cos there are too many to choose from! I liked Tigger when I was a kid. I also liked the '90s [Disney] movies; I thought the Genie from Aladdin was very cool, and I thought Quasimodo from The Hunchback of Notre Dame was an inspirational character. One could say the Disney family has expanded to the Star Wars characters, so now I can say Darth Vader! And of course, Spider-Man and Iron Man, too. It's a privilege to be able to bounce around all of my favorite characters.

KZ: Of all the Marvel superheroes to develop a theme park ride for, why Iron Man?

TR: We realized early on that Iron Man, or Tony Stark, is a special character that a lotta peeps around the world relate to and are impressed by.

KZ: How was it like to collab with the Marvel peeps on the Iron Man Experience?

TR: We worked with a lot of great partners at Marvel—guys like Stan Lee, Kevin Feige (president of Marvel Studios), and Joe Quesada (Marvel's chief creative officer), who were heroes of mine as well. Joe Quesada started his career as a comic book artist. I wanted to be a comic artist as a kid. I remember being in college and wanting to be like Joe Quesada, so [working with him] was pretty amazing!

KZ: What do you like most about being an Imagineer?

TR: Working with diverse people from different backgrounds and disciplines. In my own life, I've jumped between my interests in arts, for the Iron Man Experience, about being a Walt Disney latest attraction, and working with comic book legends.

IMAGINE THAT

music, technology, and graphic design. As an Imagineer, I get to work with people who are experts in those fields.

KZ: How can kids become everyday Imagineers?

TS: "Imagineer" is a term

Walt Disney came up with, which combines imagination and engineering. You can look at it as story and science coming together. We [Imagineers] do what we do and build what we build to entertain people and make fantasies and dreams come true. Whether you're interested in science or engineering or music, [you can channel your inner Imagineer] when you bring your imagination to it. Challenge yourself and think about a solution that no one else has ever thought of. Whatever you can do in your everyday practice—drawing your favorite character, playing with your building blocks—whatever it is that you love to do, just keep practicing and keep doing it.

KZ: Cool! Finally, what would your superhero power be?

TS: I want the ability to control time, because I never have enough of it!

Hiya,
Ted!

APPLICATION

NOT ALL ASPIRING POWER RANGERS BECOME PART

NEON RANGER

POWER WEAPON: Magic Highlighter

POWER SOURCE: Neon Whistle

For some reason, Neon Ranger always gets mistaken for a traffic enforcer. There was even one instance when people accidentally followed him into the battlefield thinking they were headed to the parking garage. Zordon appointed him chief traffic enforcer in the city instead.

RAINBOW RANGER

POWER WEAPON: Unicorn Blaster

POWER SOURCE: The Film

Rainbow Ranger is a trained ninja who possesses the mystical power of the rainbow. Unfortunately, her attacks don't deal much damage, since she just showers the enemy with multicolored confetti.

PERIWINKLE RANGER

POWER WEAPON: Blue Bow

POWER SOURCE: Flower Garden

Periwinkle Ranger was the toughest of all the rangers! But he got kicked out after his strong floral odor distracted the rest of the team and almost cost them a battle against Ivan Ooze. Aw, that stinks!

ION DENIED!

THE TEAM MEET THE CANDIDATES WHO DIDN'T MAKE THE CUT.

TRANSPARENT RANGER

POWER WEAPON: Clear Spear

POWER SOURCE: Crystal Gem

This guy is an unsung hero! Transparent Ranger helped the Rangers defeat Rita Repulsa in their final showdown. The poor guy didn't get any cred, though, because, well, no one saw him. (John Cena, is that you?)

FLESH RANGER

POWER WEAPON: Nunchuks

POWER SOURCE: A Naked Mole Rat Statue

Flesh Ranger is very eager to join the team's crusade against evil. However, the Rangers sent him home on his first day of training because they thought he wasn't wearing any clothes. #ToughLuck

GLOW-IN-THE-DARK RANGER

POWER WEAPON: Mystical Glow Stick

POWER SOURCE: The Moon
There's no question about Glow-in-the-Dark Ranger's monster-fighting skills. The problem? She can be easily spotted during nighttime, making it difficult for her to launch a surprise attack on baddies.

FANTASTIC TREES

AND WHERE TO FIND THEM

BOOJUM TREES

Location: Baja California peninsula
Scientific name: Fouquieria columnaris

"I am Groot."

[Translation: This tree belongs to the ocotillo fam—types of trees that have semi-succulent or cactus-like stems and spikes. A Boojum, A.K.A. Cirio, can grow up to 20 meters tall and blooms honey-scented flowers in summer and fall.]

"I am Groot? I am Groot."

[Translation: 'Hey, Pickett, Did you know that the oldest cloned tree in the world is a Norway Spruce named Old Tjikko? Experts at Sweden's Umea University say the tree is 9,550 years old. Can you be-leaf it? That means this spruce has been around since the last Ice Age!]

NORWAY SPRUCE

Location: Fulufjället Mountains, Sweden
Scientific name: Picea abies

LE CHÊNE CHAPELLE (THE CHAPEL OAK)

Location: Allouville-Bellefosse,
Seine-Maritime, France
Scientific name: Quercus

Tiny squeaking

[Translation: This 800-year-old oak tree was carved in the 1600s to make room for not one, but two chapels inside its huge trunk!]

High-pitched squeal

[Translation: This is the tallest living tree in the world, with a height of 115.55 meters. I would look like a tiny seedling next to it. This giant tree can be found in Cali's Redwood National and State Parks. Groot, we should check it out!]

COAST REDWOOD

Location: California, U.S.A.

Scientific name: Sequoia sempervirens

THE BOAB PRISON TREE

Location: Wyndham, Western Australia

Scientific name: Adansonia gregorii

Small excited murmurs

[Translation: The Boab's trunk is so stout, a person could fit in there! In fact, an Australian myth claims it was once used to lock up prisoners. The tree also goes by a lotta names, including baobab, gouty stem tree, upside down tree, bottle tree, monkey bread tree, and gadawon.]

BRAZILIAN PINE

Location: Southern Brazil

Scientific name: Araucaria angustifolia

"I am Groot."

[Translation: Also called Candelabra because of its branches, this Southern American tree isn't actually a real pine. It has a straight trunk that grows spikes toward the top, and its crown is flat. Also, its branches jut straight out from the trunk and look like they have pompoms at the tips! Unfortunately, this tree is critically endangered 'coz people eat its fruit and seeds. #SaveTheTrees]

FREEZE FRAME

CAN YOU FACE YOUR FEAR?

Matt was on a weeklong camping trip with his family and they were sharing scary stories around a bonfire. He always loved this part of their summer road trips.

He'd always been fascinated with monsters. He spent most of his time online, researching the biggest, scariest, and most horrifying stories out there. As the campfire dwindled and his parents started yawning, Matt decided to go on a monster hunt by himself. When midnight struck, he grabbed one of the flashlights and snuck out.

The woods were cold and quiet. The only sound he could hear was his dad's snoring back in the tent. Matt turned on his flashlight and headed off into the darkness.

Not long after, he came across a wide, circular lake with its surrounding area completely abandoned. There were no animals, no bugs, and no plants around the lake. It seemed as though not even grass wanted to grow near the shore.

Matt approached the lake. In the moonlight, the still waters seemed like a mirror. He leaned over to take a look, and in the reflection on the water he saw a creature. At first, Matt couldn't see it clearly, but when he squinted, he could slowly make out the features on its face. The creature had wrinkled skin that was a sickly shade of purple. It was mostly hairless, except for a few strands of gray hair here and there.

Most of its features weren't extraordinary. Oh, but its eyes... Its eyes weren't ferocious or mean, like what Matt thought monster eyes were supposed to look like. They were... strangely peaceful. They showed no emotion, but Matt couldn't help being drawn in by them. The creature's gaze felt oddly welcoming.

Matt spun around. There was nothing behind him. When he looked at the water again, the only thing he saw was his own reflection. Unnerved by the experience, he hurried back to the tent and forced himself to sleep.

That night, Matt dreamt of the mysterious creature. It was walking toward him with its arms wide open.

The next morning, Matt's family packed up and continued on their road trip. Matt never talked about what he saw that night by the lake. He never mentioned the creature's leathery skin. He never told anyone about its scraggly stray hairs. He never spoke a word about its hauntingly familiar eyes.

But he thought about those eyes. He thought about the creature all day.

He couldn't get the creature out of his head. When they took a pit stop at a gas station, he saw it, fleetingly, in the bathroom mirror. Sometimes, when a car with heavily tinted windows drove past them, he imagined seeing it in the glass.

At night, just as he was about to doze off, he saw it in his dad's rearview mirror. It always vanished whenever he looked away.

The creature invaded his dreams every night. Every time, it would walk toward him, its eyes calm and peaceful, its arms stretched out for an embrace. It never seemed to get any closer to him, but the nightmares freaked Matt out just the same. He'd wake up in the middle of the night in a cold sweat, his heart pounding.

By the end of the week, he'd had enough. He needed to know more about the creature. Maybe, just maybe, he could find out something—anything—about it online. While his parents slept soundly, he took out his phone and looked up the creature on the internet.

He closed his eyes and tried to recall every detail about it. He entered its features on a search engine as he remembered them. Eventually, he chanced upon a site named "Have You Seen It?" and clicked on the link.

Matt was greeted by an image of the creature, complete with disgusting, wrinkly skin and a vacant stare. It was a drawing by someone else who must have seen the monster. Matt scrolled down to see the rest of the page.

It read:

If you have seen this creature, you must stop thinking about it. Do it now. Do it quickly. Do not let the creature remain in your thoughts. It is through your thoughts that the creature will enter this world.

A shiver rushed down Matt's spine. He dropped his phone and hid under the blankets. He tried to think of other things before he went to sleep: pizza, video games, comic books. It didn't help. The same dream haunted him once again—the creature and its leathery skin, loose hairs, and odd, familiar gaze. He woke up in a panic, just like he did every night since he first saw it. He sat up in his sleeping bag, his head feeling cold and bare. He ran his fingers over it and touched... nothing. He looked down on his pillow and saw clumps of hair on it. His hair.

Matt grabbed his phone and turned on the front-facing camera to get a good look at himself. His face had changed. His hair was falling in chunks from his scalp. His skin had gone all wrinkly and bruised. Only his eyes remained the same. They were the only thing left of his own face.

The creature was entering this world. And it was entering this world through him.

driveway covered in human poop. Ew! The disgruntled lady lives near the Salt Lake City airport, so she thinks an airplane flying overhead had a nasty waste leak. She said it ain't the first time the poop incident happened, either.
Boy, that stinks—literally!

QUICK DRAW

How To Draw:

Step 1:
Sketching Red Ranger
basic shapes using a pencil

Draw circles for his head and hands, and a pair of rectangles for his knees

Draw squares and rectangles for his torso, arms, legs and feet.

Step 2:
Suit Up!

Draw a muscular shape on his chest
and rectangles for shoulder pads.

Add his helmet's
visor, his mouth,
and other details
using straight and curved lines

Use straight and curved lines to add texture to Red Ranger's suit.

Use straight and curved lines to add texture to his

curved lines

RED POWER RANGER

Step 3:
Finishing touches

Use a brush to thicken and fill strokes ink over the sketch details. Then erase the pencil marks once the ink
dries up.

Step 4:
It's Morphin' Time!

Save for his black visor and the blue diamond
plate on his chest, Red Ranger's suit mainly features different shades of red. The trimmings of his suit
are blue and silver,
while his power
morpher is orange and gray. Now you're ready

STAR TREK: BRIDGE

AVAILABLE ON PLAYSTATION VR, OCULUS RIFT, HTC VIVE

GENRE

VIR

Star Trek: Bridge Crew boldly goes where no other Star Trek game has gone before: to the realm of virtual reality!

SET PHASERS TO AWESOME!

Round up your crew and take control of a federation starship.

In this game, you'll experience what it's like to actually work aboard a starship. The VR aspect takes immersion to the next level and lets you interact with fellow crew members. Strap on that headset and get ready to blast off!

YES, CAPTAIN!

Beam us up, bro!

Star Trek: Bridge Crew puts you in the futuristic boots of one of the four crew members of the U.S.S. Aegis, a brand new addition to the Federation's fleet. Your mission is to search for a new homeworld for the Vulcan race in a recently discovered region of space called The Trench. Along the way, you'll encounter all sorts of scrapes that could tear your ship apart and blast the crew into space dust. To make matters worse, the Klingon Empire is looking to give you one astronomical headache. Uh-oh!

E CREW

VIRTUAL REALITY, MULTIPLAYER

RATING: G

KNOW YOUR ROLE!

Choose your job class.

Captain

The captain's chair comes with huge responsibility. You'll be looking at the overall situation on the U.S.S. Aegis, making super important decisions, and giving orders to your crew.

Tactical Officer

Your job is to make sure the Aegis is in tip-top shape. You'll be in charge of the ship's weapons and shields.

Chief Engineer

Aside from screaming "I'm giving it all she's got, Captain," it's your job to distribute power to the ship's various functions. Will you charge up the shields, or redirect power to the warp drives?

Helmsman

Yep, you're at the helm of the Aegis' navigational controls. You'll be steering the ship, getting it into the right position during missions, and punching it into warp speed when things get dicey!

ROAD RULES

Final Fantasy XV's Noctis, Ignis, Gladiolus, and Prompto show you how to rock that summer road trip!

BE PREPARED FOR ANYTHING

N: The Regalia broke down in Leide, right at the start of our trip, and the four of us had to push it to Hammerhead. Ugh! Anything and everything can go wrong on road trips, no matter how well-planned, so keep your cool and do what you gotta do. Even princes gotta get their hands dirty.

WHAT YOU CAN DO: It's all about the 'tude, dude! If something doesn't go according to plan, just relax, take a chill pill, and figure out how to fix it.

PLAN ACTIVITIES FOR EVERYONE

G: My bros know that I luurve slurping noodle soup, so they took me to the Cup Noodles Shop in Lestallum!

WHAT YOU CAN DO:

Take turns deciding on the next activity. It's only fair!

MANAGE YOUR GIL

P: It's hard to earn gil! We had to do tons of things, like sell carrots in Cape Caem and take hunting contracts at restaurants, just so we could have a steady supply of curries, potions, and elixirs.

WHAT YOU CAN DO: Make a budget for things you want to spend on—food, drinks, theme park tickets, and souvenirs—and stick to it.

TAKE ALL THE PHOTOS!

P: It's easy to forget that we pushed a car all over Lucis, saved the world from the Starscourge, and did loads of other things in between. Luckily, I took a TON of pictures to document our kick-butt (literally) journey.

WHAT YOU CAN DO: Snap away, but don't forget to be present and enjoy the moment, too.

DO YOUR RESEARCH

I: Knowledge is a wonderful thing, and I try to pick up as much information as possible on the road. Whether it's to track down the black Chocobo that stole my spectacles in Petriche Haven, learn how to heal my friends, or explain the superiority of Ebony Coffee, a little wisdom goes a long way, trust.

WHAT YOU CAN DO: Search for interesting landmarks that you can check out en route to your destination.

SQUAD SHARING SESH

N: I highly recommend getting to know your friends and talking about your feels around a campfire. It's one of my fave things to do with my bros. #SharingsCaring

WHAT YOU CAN DO: Make sure you tell your travel buds that you appreciate their company.

KINGDOM HEARTS

(2002, PS2)

The game that started it all! The story of Sora, Kairi, and Riku and how they deal with the Heartless and their leader, Ansem, was well-received all over the world thanks to its unique fusion of Final Fantasy characters and iconic Disney movies.

UNCHAINED X

(2013, Android)

Set long before the events of the first Kingdom Hearts game, this installment covers the Keyblade War.

BIRTH BY SLEEP

(2010, PSP)

Future Keyblade Masters Terra, Aqua, and Ventus are the heroes in this prequel. The game also explains Xehanort's origins and how Sora and Riku got Keyblades.

358/2 DAYS

(2009, Nintendo DS)

358/2 Days takes place some time after KH and stars Roxas, the newest member of the mysterious Organization XIII. This game was the first in the series to feature touchscreen controls.

CHAIN OF MEMORIES

(2004, Game Boy Advance)

After the events of KH, Sora visits a place called Castle Oblivion. Btdubs, this is the only title to use a card battle system.

WHAT'S THE S

Are you going loco over the number of Kingdom Hearts titles you gotta play? Don't fret. Here's a quick explainer on how they all fit together in the story line.

KINGDOM
HEARTS II

(2006, PS2)

In the direct sequel, we finally meet the rest of Organization XIII, A.K.A. the KH2 villains, as Sora battles against them in order to protect Kingdom Hearts.

RE:CODED

(2011, Nintendo DS)

Following the epilogue in KH2, Sora learns about Terra, Ven, and Aqua, plus his own role as the "key that connects everything."

DREAM DROPPING

(2012, 3DS)

Master Yen Sid puts Sora and Riku through the Mark of Mastery exam, while Xehanort (the story's big boss baddie) makes a major comeback.

KINGDOM
HEARTS III

(TBA, PS4/Xbox One)

Get ready for the final battle between the forces of light and darkness! Kingdom Hearts III will be the epic conclusion to what series creator Tetsuya Nomura calls the "Dark Seeker Saga." Hyypelll

ITCH?The Ultimate Key

Apart from three titles—358/2 Days, Re:coded, and X—you can play every game in the series on a single platform when you get the compilation Kingdom Hearts 1.5 + 2.5 ReMIX, which comes out this month!

GIRL'S GOT GAME

WE CHATTED WITH ADELLE BUENO, SQUARE ENIX'S CHIEF ENVIRONMENT TECHNICAL ARTIST (READ: SHE DESIGNS VIDEO GAME BACKGROUNDS), ABOUT GAMING GEEKERY. (BTW, SHE'S A FELLOW PINOY. COOL!)

KZ
EXCLUSIVE

K-Zone: Hi, Adelle! What videogames did you play growing up?

Adelle Bueno: Super Mario Bros., Super Mario Kart, Street Fighter, and Pokémon. Oh, I was also really into dinosaurs as a kid, so I loved Turok, but I wanted to befriend the dinos instead of hunting them. As I got older, I played RPGs like Chrono Trigger and the Final Fantasy series. I'm a huge RPG nut to this day!

KZ: What makes the video game industry awesome?

AB: It's one of a kind—getting to work on video games is really quite inspirational in itself. In no other industry will you find this intersection of art, storytelling, interactivity, and technology. I get to work alongside creative people and make something that others can enjoy.

KZ: What are the challenges you face on the job?

AB: Well, video game standards are set really high—players expect a lot out of a game, and rightfully so! Because of this, the industry is highly competitive!

KZ: If you weren't a videogame artist, what would you be doing 'stead?

AB: That's really hard to say! So much of my life centers around the videogame industry—my work, hobbies, etc. However, I enjoy storytelling in general, so I would probably be a novelist.

KZ: What is your dream project?

AB: The opportunity to work on the Final Fantasy franchise (most recently, Final Fantasy XV) has been a definite dream come true for me!

KZ: Can you share some advice for kids who wanna be videogame artists?

AB: Before trying to convince your parents, you gotta make sure that it's something you're truly passionate about. Yes, it's fun, but it also requires a lot of hard work. Ask yourself, will you still enjoy the work even if it's in an art style or a theme that you don't really dig? Spend as much time as you can learning new things and improving your skills. There are so many resources online, from tutorials to open-source software. Also, be nice to people—that's good life advice in general.

FLIP THE SWITCH

THE NINTENDO SWITCH IS FINALLY OUT THIS MONTH, SO WE HELP YA DECIDE WHICH GAME YOU SHOULD CHECK OUT FIRST!

READER REVIEW

Marcus Thater 'splains why Star Wars: Galaxy of Heroes is outta-this-world awesome.

Gameplay

Star Wars: Galaxy of Heroes is a turn-based RPG where you can play both Light and Dark Sides and assemble the strongest team in the galaxy! Unlock characters by earning special shards that you can obtain by fighting battles or buying Data Cards.

Graphics

You'll dig the boss 3D graphics and ridid details on character accessories.

Sound

The sfx includes lightsabers slashing, blasters firing, and spaceships hovering—just like an actual SW movie. Legit!

Replay

There are over a hundred solo battles to play through, plus a PvP Battle Arena where you can level up your ranking and win cool prizes. You can even join a guild and participate in space skirmishes.

Overall

If you're into RPGs, you should deffo try this out 'coz it will make you feel like you're in a galaxy far, far, away.
